Flex Membership - How does it work?

Players will be allocated 100 points at the start of their membership. They will then book a tee time using the club's booking system, and depending on the day, a certain number of points will be deducted from their account. The membership will run for a year from the day you sign up until that time next year. Once all member's points are used up, they can purchase more points in multiples of 50. Any points remaining will be carried forward to the following year if you decide to renew, otherwise it will result in the points being removed.
